Cpl. Glenn Cardiff and S 1-c Russell Cardiff will be celebrating Navy Day together Saturday—and also celebrating their first get-together for three years.

Cpl. Cardiff, 23, has been stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yards for about a month after serving in the South Pacific for 32 months. His brother, 18, was transferred there after serving in the Navy since April.

Both boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cardiff of the Phillips Road. Russell who is serving on the USS Washington, has invited his brother aboard for a visit.

Another son, Scott Cardiff, Jr., his wife and small son, Scott Cardiff III, live in St. Jo, Missouri.

What is probably the biggest sweet potato grown in Fayette County this year is on display in the Kroger Grocery Co. store window.

The big potato weighs 5 pounds 6 ounces, and was grown on the Alfred Hagler farm by Rankin Burson, who is naturally proud of his accomplishment.

Growing sweet potatoes of good size is more or less of a job, and the season must be favorable, but Burson seems to hold the secret for growing the monster "yams."

Every time I see the fancy gadgets used by anglers to coax bass and other game fish to nibble at their hooks, I think of the primitive equipment used by the Moundbuilders and Indian tribes who inhabited the North American continent at least 20,000 years ago after having reached the mainland from Asia, coming by way of the Aleutian Islands.

One of the things used by the Indians, in catching fish, which were so abundant in the streams of Ohio before white man started tearing up the forests, draining the land and causing the water to make a quick getaway, were bone fish hooks and bone spears, as well as sharp wooden spikes to spear the larger fish.

Many of these bone fishhooks, which were found in mounds that were estimated to be 600 to 1200 years old, were still in an excellent state of preservation when found, and are on display in the Ohio State Museum and other museums throughout the country.

Fish formed one of the important items of diet among the primitive people who roamed the forests for many hundreds of years before white man discovered America.

JEWISH NAZI GUARD

He Beat Prisoners, Accusers
Surprise Him

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Ignatz Schlomowicz, one of the 45 concentration camp guards on trial for war crimes, startled a British military court today by asserting that he is a Jew.

Two affidavits accused him of beating prisoners at Belsen. Schlomowicz expressed surprise, saying he said he thought his accusers were his friends.

Schlomowicz said he was sent with 1,500 other Jews to Oswiecim and "only seven of us are left from the original group."

"I was put in the selection parade and chosen for work instead of the gas chamber," he testified.

MRS. FDR IS NOT SO SURE
OF TRUMAN FOREIGN POLICY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The widow of Franklin D. Roosevelt, architect of the United Nations conference, says she is not sure that President Truman's foreign policy will help create "a peaceful world."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, at a press conference preceding an address last night asserted the United States "first line of defense" is "the making of a sound peace."

"It would be most unfortunate," she said, "for the sake of future generations if efforts toward a sound peace are unsuccessful."

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President Truman will announce his proposals for wage and price stabilization in a radio address Tuesday night as part of a fast-developing government attempt to end strikes.

The president will broadcast (10 P. M., EST) the outline of a policy he and his advisers hope will at least head off further walkouts for pay increases.

Mr. Truman made known his plan at a news conference yesterday. He also:

1. Spiked reports that his chief price adviser, Reconversion Director John W. Snyder, would resign.
2. Announced appointment of a seasoned labor trouble-shooter, Dr. John R. Steelman, as a presidential special assistant.
3. Said he had not encouraged Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, to propose a national 45-hour work week, as Wilson did after a White House visit last Friday.
4. Made public the agenda for WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The papers amply reported what congressmen said about Mr. Truman's youth draft plan, but more important was what was not said.

Normally the democratic leaders rush to say any message from their president was a great speech, often the greatest ever. This time, House Leader McCormack, told inquiring newsmen he wanted time to read the message thoroughly and Senate Leader Barkley could not be found although he was around.

A similarly significant void was evident all down the line of both Democratic and Republican ranks, where the men know the youth draft is not popular. Actually, only those congressmen who had already committed themselves on

Training Plan Showdown Nears

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The compulsory military training plan got a full-steam ahead signal in Congress today.

House leaders decided to win a decision—one way or another—by Christmas. Maybe even by late November, a month from now.

President Truman's proposal of a year's military training for all youths puts Congress on a political hot spot, these leaders feel.

They want to get it out of the way, well before the 1946 congressional election campaigning. It's likely senators will also feel an urge for speed.

A new fight popped up about the Pearl Harbor probe. And the Senate finance committee chairman, Walter George of Georgia, said the new tax cut bill will furnish all the relief people can expect on their 1946 incomes.

About the Pearl Harbor investigation:

Probe Problems
Republicans hotly protested a White House order letting only a majority of the 10-man Senate House joint Pearl Harbor committee summon witnesses or records.

The four GOP members had wanted freedom for each to sleuth out leads of his own. This is the way the Senate's war investigating committee operates. Mr. Truman when a senator headed up that committee. But as president he's rejected the plan for the Pearl Harbor investigators.

Whatever comes out of it—and the aggregate slash is sure to be somewhere near $5,500,000,000—Democrats defended the Truman action. They said the whole committee is responsible for examining the causes of the Hawaii base disaster and should go about it as a group.

Tax Cut Conference
House and Senate delegations got together to iron out different versions of income tax cuts.

Whatever comes out of it—and the aggregate slash is sure to be somewhere near $5,500,000,000—

Senator George said that's all anybody can count on for next year. Congress will go to work later on a long-range postwar tax plan but George made it clear that won't apply before 1947.

That Senate investigating committee President Truman once headed is doing some work on its own on Pearl Harbor. But not about the December 7, 1941, de-

Occupation Plans Are Under Discussion With Allies as Treasure Hunt Continues

TOKYO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Japanese Foreign Office today showed reluctance to obey General MacArthur's unprecedented orders for the diplomatic isolation of Japan.

Domestic Agency quoted unnamed informed sources as reporting that the government would "exercise great care" in following the order, but that foreign office officials "would sound out" Allied authorities on whether the directive "conforms to the Potsdam Declaration."

MacArthur yesterday ordered Japan to transfer all of her diplomatic and consular properties and archives everywhere in the world to the Allied powers, to cease relations with foreign governments, and to recall her diplomatic and consular representatives from abroad. The directive was prepared by the joint chiefs of staff in Washington.

The Allies, immediately after the cessation of hostilities, had requested Japan to cease relations with neutral powers. At that time some quarters of the government expressed the opinion that the request was inconsistent with the Potsdam Pact.

Since the surrender Japan has maintained relations with Switzerland, Sweden, Portugal, Eire, Afghanistan and the Holy See.

On the occupation front, MacArthur's headquarters said that plans for fitting other Allied troops into the setup await the conclusion of policy discussions among the big powers, then the receipt of orders from Washington. To date, no one official word has come through.

MacArthur, meanwhile, indicated impatience at silence from the Japanese government concerning his pointed suggestion two weeks ago that the Japanese big family monopolies be "democratized."

A headquarters statement said the Allied commander had received "no official communication from the Imperial Japanese government on any phase of the Zaibatsu (big families) question."

CEILING PRICES TO BE REMOVED

52 Foods on List for Release
On October 31

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Price ceilings will be removed October 31 from 52 food commodities, the OPA announced today.

At the same time they will be suspended for 90 days on three others.

The suspension applies to canned carrots and carrot juice; fresh, frozen and canned crabmeat, and vegetable seeds. The action does not affect canned carrots sold as baby or junior foods.

Among commodities exempted from controls are:

Canned oysters, calms and salted lake herring; frozen beets, citrus segments, coconuts, figs, melons, mushrooms and pears; pretzels and ice cream cones; bouillon cubes and bulk or packed dehydrated vegetables except peas and beans.

LORAIN, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Police searched a five-state area today for an ex-convict steel worker wanted for questioning in the slaying of Mrs. Helen Duffield, 24-year-old wife of a Navy radarman in the Pacific.

Mrs. Helen Duffield

Although admitting lack of any knowledge of a motive for the shooting, detectives said considerable circumstantial evidence pointed to the steel worker, who once served a term in the Ohio Penitentiary for auto theft, has been uncovered.

Police said the man's landlady reported he was away from home

H. R. SHERIDAN CANDIDATE FOR CITY COUNCIL

Sponsoring Committee Names
Him To Take Place of Tolen E. Brown

Harold R. Sheridan, restaurant proprietor and former food market manager, today was one of five candidates for the two seats open in the city council.

Sheridan was named to take the place of Tolen E. Brown, who died suddenly Monday, by Brown's five-man sponsoring committee at a meeting in the board of elections office Thursday night.

Although it may not be generally known by the average voter, every candidate for public office must have a sponsoring committee of five in addition to the required number of signatures on nominating petitions.

Glenn B. Rodgers, clerk of the board and veteran political observer, said Friday morning that the records show few instances where a sponsoring committee has ever been called on to act in any of the capacities prescribed by law. However, this year, he said, these unusual conditions had arisen twice. The first time was when James Johnson, a candidate for Green Township trustee died and the second was after the death of Brown. Johnson's sponsors named Oren Patton to take his place, but because his death occurred before the ballots were printed, the change was affected without difficulty by printing Patton's name on them. In the case of Brown, things were different and led to some complications, all of which are simply solvable under the law.

Brown's sponsors, James Ducey, Orion Hidy, Don H. C. Bowen, Frank Thatcher and Edwin Weaver, had little trouble in selecting Sheridan to take his place. But, because the ballots have been printed, the law provides that a sticker bearing Sheridan's name be pasted over Brown's name on the ballots by the election clerks and judges when the ballots are handed to the voters. The plan overcomes the trouble and expense of reprinting the ballots.

Under the law, a deceased candidate may be replaced by the sponsors until five days before the election.

Rodgers explained that this rarely used procedure prevents the possible election of a candidate who is dead.

The five candidates for council at the Nov. 6 election are: Ora Bellar; C. F. Higley, a former councilman; Sheridan and Judge Robert H. Sites and Frank Snyder, incumbents whose terms expire. Both Sites and Snyder are running for reelection.

BROWN'S OPPOSITION HELPS DEFER BILL

Action Would Keep Codes a Secret

Largely because of the opposition of Rep. Clarence J. Brown, who represents Fayette County as a part of the seventh Ohio district in the national Congress, the House deferred action on a bill which would prohibit unauthorized disclosure of military codes and messages.

Criticizing the bill, Rep. Brown declared that the legislation was so broad that "it strikes at the very roots of freedom of speech and the freedom of the press."

Rep. Brown, a Republican, lives in Blanchester and besides being one of the nation's lawmakers he is a newspaper publisher. He has been given overwhelming majorities by Fayette County whenever he was a candidate for public office. He has spoken here many times before political gatherings and at Rotary Club meetings.

Chairman Summers (D-Tex.) of the judiciary committee declared the army and navy want the deferred legislation to insure security of secret codes.

WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

One of the most dangerous of the many crises which are threatening international peace is that growing out of the dispute over whether unrestricted Jewish immigration should be permitted into Palestine.

This of course involves the historic question of the establishment of a Jewish national home in the Holy Land. A host of homeless Jews in Europe—refugees from the Hitlerian storm—are crying for a raising of the barriers. Arabs in Palestine and in neighboring countries are offering bitter opposition—and threats of armed strife are in the air.

The situation demands quick adjustment, but it bristles with complications. The British government, which holds the mandate for Palestine, is trying to handle this hot potato, and the matter has been the subject of conversations between London and Washington. There has been a growing feeling in England that the United States should share in the responsibility of trying to reach a solution.

Well informed circles are expecting the British government to make a statement in the immediate future. Whether this will relate to the exchanges with Washington remains to be seen.

This column yesterday suggested that the Japanese revolt against Dutch rule, and the native rebellion in French-Indo China, might well be taken up by the new world security organization for settlement. The question of self-determination is a logical one to come before all the United Nations. There naturally would have to be mediation by some country, to halt the fighting and preserve the status quo, pending the time when the security organization gets into full action.

Why shouldn't a similar program be applied to the Palestine difficulty? Certainly there could be no better jury before which to lay the case than the full assembly of the new league of nations. As a matter of fact, any matter affecting the Palestine mandate naturally would fall to the security organization as successor to the league of nations which originally granted the mandate to Britain.

This idea doesn't involve any suggestion that Britain be asked to surrender the mandate. The point is that the problem of the Jewish national home has got too big and complicated for any one country to handle. Indeed, it is doubtful if the decision of any single country would be accepted by both sides to the controversy.

Should it be decided that the question should come before the general assembly of the United Nations as soon as that body is established, then the urgent need now would be for mediation to preserve the status quo until the assembly could function. Who would mediate? Perhaps we shall have an answer to that when we get the expected British statement.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR TOLE E. BROWN

Funeral rites for Tole E. Brown were held Thursday at 3:30 P. M. at the Cox and Parrett funeral home, followed by interment in the family lot in the Madison Mills cemetery.

The services were conducted by Rev. George B. Parkin, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, who offered prayer, read the scriptures and delivered the sermon. He also read the hymns "The Old Rugged Cross," and "Lead Kindly Light."

There were many beautiful floral tributes. The pallbearers were Floyd Hornbeck, Frank Cook, Emil Wilson, Jesse Ellis, Frank Thornton and Garrett Ramey.

CUB TRAINING FOR PARENTS IS PLANNED HERE

Warren Parkinson To Conduct Course To Last Three Nights

A training course for cub pack leaders is being planned by Warren Parkinson, the Boy Scout Field Executive here, announced at a meeting of Cub Pack 29 in the Dayton Power and Light clubrooms Thursday night.

The course will be an hour and a half class for three evenings which will be set at times convenient to the men and women enrolling in the course, Parkinson said. People who are interested may call Mrs. Haskell Thompson at 26791 and she will notify Parkinson.

Parkinson explained also the need for more den mothers and den dads at the meeting Thursday. Parental support is vital to the success of the cubbing movement, he declared.

Thirty parents were present at the meeting—the mothers received chrysanthemum corsages and the fathers, boutonnières, presented by the cubs.

The boys in the cub pack at the Children's Home came with David Whiteside and Lester Seymour, the den chief. Awards made to them were: Robert Conway, lion rank; Andy McMorrow, bear rank and silver arrow; Harry Lewis, bear rank; Harman Hatfield, wolf rank and gold arrow; Paul Magg, silver arrow; Jack Bunch and Clarence Conway also attended.

Awards made to Pack 29 members were: Lion rank, Norman Pope and James Johnson; Bear rank, Norman Melvin and Darrell Stewart; gold and silver arrows, Norman Pope, James Johnson, Norman Melvin and Darrell Stewart; denner stripes, James Johnson, Joe Pope and Ronald Dawson.

Mrs. Thompson closed the meeting with the reading, "I Am A Boy." Other den mothers present were Mrs. Olive Prosch and Mrs. Darrell Williams.

MRS. EDWARD GRASSLEY FUNERAL RITES HELD

Farewell services for Mrs. Edward Grassley were held at the Cox and Parrett funeral home, Thursday at 2 P. M. and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

Rev. R. E. Wain, of Greenfield, conducted the services, offering prayer, reading from the scriptures, and delivering the sermon.

The floral gifts were of exceptional beauty. Interment was made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Ray Maynard, Robert Craig, Edward Grassley, David Worthington, Charles Robinson and E. L. Mann.

Revival at Good Hope

Rev. Verlyn Knisley of Jamestown will be the evangelist at the two-week revival beginning Sunday at the Good Hope Pilgrim Church.

Services will be held each night at 7:30 P. M. in addition to three services on Sunday—at 9:30 and 10:30 A. M. and at 7:30 P. M.

The Stookey Sisters are, left to right, Vivian, Donnabelle, May and Louise

Rev. M. L. Bogard is the pastor of the Good Hope Church where the revival will be held.

The Stookey Sisters—Vivian, Donnabelle, May and Louise—will be the singers at the revival. They also play the accordion, guitar and mandolin for their own accompaniment. The four sisters are to take over much of the young people's work, it was said.

Rev. Bogard extended a welcome to everyone to attend the revival services.

NWF CHAIRMEN TO MAKE REPORT FRIDAY NIGHT

Women's Organization Meet $150 Goal, Reinke Announced

A report on the progress of the National War Fund drive here will be made Friday when the division chairmen are to meet at 7:30 P. M. in the probate court room of the Court House, Charles Reinke, campaign chairman, said today.

Soliciting in the $23,000 drive was to end this week and, Reinke reported Friday morning, the women's organizations have exceeded their $150 quota. The third ward is nearly up to its $900 goal, he added.

Just what the results of the report will be Reinke didn't predict. It was hoped the $23,000 goal would be met but no statements to that effect were made.

Reforming Nations
Any way you look at them, those German Nazis are a terrific problem. A nation of 70,000,000 or 80,000,000 people couldn't be abolished, even if the Allied Nations seriously undertook such a task. There are laws of humanity and self-respect that go even beyond the written law, in deference to humanity itself.
So the only thing to do about the Nazi Germans, apparently, as with some other breeds including the Japanese, is to make a more definite and intelligent effort to civilize them. Gen. MacArthur seems to have assumed a task of that kind, almost as big and difficult, in Japan. His success is by no means assured; and yet many Americans have a feeling that, with an intelligent, sincere and continuous effort lasting for many years, it can be done.
The German job is probably the harder of the two. The Germans have drilled into their minds for nearly a century that they are a master race destined to rule the world. The Japanese have somewhat similar notions, but have not been so outspoken and disciplined in their claims of superiority.
But the almost incredible achievement of Adolf Hitler should encourage other nations. If he could so alter the thought and practice of a nation in a bad cause, more rational and civilized nations should be able to alter the Germans in a good cause. But it will take much time and patience.

Celestial Sweets
There is money as well as joy in candy bars. And it is incredible how much wealth Americans can pile up by the medium of such seeming trifles. The Candy Bar King, Milton S. Hershey, dead at the ripe age of 88 years, left a big fortune, of which $84,000,000 goes to "the orphan boys of America." It was a fine thing to do; and many people will like to fancy a sort of eternal candy bar heaven for boys when the millionaire's earthly philanthropy wears out.
Blessed is the man whose heart "leaps like a child's at little things." And we have plenty of them in this generous country of ours.

Strike Boomerangs
Strikes have become so widespread in this country that the public tends to rise in revolt. Many signs point to public impatience. A wage policy designed to allay work-stoppage is promised by President Truman as a result of cabinet meetings on the subject. The Department of Labor urges repeal of sections of the Smith-Connally Anti-Strike law permitting 30-day strike notices and government supervision of strikes, claiming these provisions tend to incite strikes. Simultaneously, a movement involving both Republicans and Democrats is under way in Congress, to overhaul laws so that unions as well as employers will be responsible for keeping agreements and the public peace. Such legislation is aimed particularly at work-stoppages in public utilities.
The recently settled soft coal strike that

Washington at a Glance By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — As this is being written the last edition of one of the strangest publications born of this war is going to servicemen still on duty cleaning out global war's four corners. It is "Curly Caminita's Capital Roundup."
Lurwig Caminita is never known by any other handle than "Curly," even around the Petroleum Administration for War, where he is a member of the public relations staff. He is a small, chunky fellow, with a round, good-natured face and curly hair as black as a new shoe-shine.
His good humor is exceeded only by his energy and (like a lot of good Americans not so far removed from the old country) by a deep-rooted patriotism, which he never wears on his sleeve.
Even before we got into the shooting part of the world mess, Curly was knocking on the doors of the recruiting offices of the Army, Navy and Marines. He got along fine until he got to the doctors. They would have no part of him, in spite of the fact that he looks as husky as a young ox.

Some Shovelling
TOLEDO—(P)—County Treasurer Dan Holtzemer figures one of the men at his Crilly Co. coal plant, Herman Frosch, has shoveled 7,600,000 scoops of coal, that's a lot of elbow bending and it took 38 years. Holtzemer said and added: Frosch moved eight tons of coal per day, 300 days per year for 38 years. That makes 76,000 tons of coal—enough to fill 15 trains of 100 cars each, or six cargo vessels, holding 12,000 tons each.

lost 10,000,000 tons of coal from the nation's bins is a case in point, as is the milk producers' proposed strike in the New York area threatening about 7,000,000 consumers. Another of the generally disapproved strikes was that of the East Coast Longshoremen, which held up not only return of troops, but food designed both for occupation forces and starving Europeans. There also are the country-wide strikes affecting industrial reconversion, as well as the overall employment status of civilians and job-seeking veterans.
The new note in national thinking sets forth that not only labor and management have equal rights in a democracy, but the citizenry of a country have rights as well.

Worldwide Lull
Some Americans just now are taking pride in the superior bombs we have created. Every little while there are announcements telling of some new victory in the endless quest of bigger and better ways of eliminating enemies. And there need be no doubt that our enemies—past, present and prospective—are not so idle as they may seem. Many fear that this peace itself may only provide a lull before another conflict.
There seems also to be a general assumption that if these big wars are renewed the world's wealth and manhood will be poured out as lavishly as ever, or more so.
Where are all our peace societies now? Where is the good will to men and nations that we have heretofore assumed as a matter of course, even while engaged in war? Is mankind not making a terrible mistake in seeming to assume that destructive wars are inevitable? That man is primarily a fighting animal instead of a friendly and co-operative being?
This is the time of all times to welcome and practise brotherhood among men—to cultivate good will as we never did in our lives before—to realize that without it our civilization may perish.
Occasionally we find ourselves wondering whether our country is run by organized government or organized labor.

Curly pleaded, signed waivers and saw a thousand people, but the fighting war went on without him.
Back in 1942, when our first troops were fighting across the plains and hills of North Africa, Curly sat down and wrote a letter. It was nothing more than that—a long gossipy letter broken up into subheads that gave the news about Washington politics, the movies, radio and sports, and a few jokes.
Instead of sending the letter to just one fellow he knew, Curly had it mimeographed. He gave some to friends to send to men they knew in the service.
The response was almost instantaneous. It hit it came a demand for more. Curly piled notes on his desk, pulled up his typewriter and "Curly Caminita's Capital Roundup" was born.
For 136 weeks, despite office duties, becoming a father, and occasional ailments, he never missed a week of getting out the "Roundup." From that little beginning, it grew to 16 (often 18) pages of single-spaced type (about 12 times as long as the piece you are reading). Before long 900 copies were being mailed out every week.
How many readers Curly had will never be known. The "Roundup" was handed around until it was worn out. It was played in recreation rooms. For more than a year, one V-mail station photographed it and sent it to units in the Pacific. Shipboard and Army and Marine unit papers picked up sections of it weekly. It was used on overseas radio stations that beamed recreational programs.
The "Roundup" outgrew Curly and his pocketbook. But he was never at loss for a staff—mostly other government workers and Washingtonians who were fired by Curly's enthusiasm.
Even when money was needed, someone always came through. For more than a year a local stencil company donated the stencils on which the "Roundup" was cut.
Curly's only remuneration is in the thousands of letters he has received from GIs all over the world thanking him for his thumbnail of week's doings at home. That, he says, is all he wants.

Disorder Affecting the Lymph Glands
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
THERE are a number of serious disorders which affect the lymph glands throughout the body. These glands aid in combating infections. There is, however, a more or less harmless or benign condition known as infectious mononucleosis which also affects the lymph glands in the body. This disease is also called glandular fever.
It is a disorder which comes on suddenly, producing many symptoms such as fever, sore throat, enlargement of the lymph glands, the spleen and the liver, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood known as lymphocytes.
Cause Unknown
The exact cause of this condition is not known. However, there are some who suspect that it may be due to an infection with such germs as the streptococcus, staphylococcus or perhaps a virus, that is, an organism so small that it will pass through the openings in a porcelain filter.
The disease may occur at any time of life, but most of those affected are either children or young adults. Men seem to have the condition more often than women. The disease seems to be more prevalent in the springtime.
Several Types
Several types of infectious mononucleosis have been described. In one type, the lymph gland enlargement is the most noticeable symptom. In the second type, sore throat and fever are outstanding. In the third type there is fever, headache, a feeling of sickness and a skin rash. The disorder may be mild or severe. Sometimes it may persist for weeks or months.
In some instances, there may be stiff neck, diarrhea, pains in the joints, nosebleed, itching of the skin and earache. In two out of three patients, enlargement of the spleen can be detected.
Paul-Bunnell Test
There is a test known as the Paul-Bunnell reaction, which may be carried out to aid in making a diagnosis. The test is made by mixing the blood cells from patients suspected of having infectious mononucleosis. If the disease is present, the blood serum will cause the red cells to form into clumps.
Up to the present time no particular type of treatment for infectious mononucleosis has been discovered which will speed recovery. On the other hand, the disease is rarely, if ever, a dangerous one, but knowledge of it is important because of the likelihood of confusing it with other more serious conditions.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
E. M.: Is it all right to get a permanent wave in the eighth month of pregnancy? Would it harm the baby?
Answer: There is apparently no reason why a permanent wave should not be given at the eighth month of pregnancy. It certainly would not affect the baby in any way.
B. C.: I have had my eyes examined and was told that I have spots on the lens of my eyes. What can be done for this condition?
Answer: It is possible that you have what is known as congenital cataracts, and that some operative treatment will be needed to remove the difficulty. A physician should be consulted concerning the advisability of such an operation.

"A MORNING GREETING"
My neighbor met me on the street,
She dropped a word of greeting gay,
Her look so bright, her tone so sweet,
I stepped to music all the day.
The cares that tugged at heart and brain,
The work too heavy for my hand,
The careless underbeat of pain,
The tasks I could not understand,
Grew lighter as I walked along
With air and step of liberty,
Freed by the sudden lift of song
That filled the world with cheer for me.
Yes, this was all. A woman wise,
Her life enriched by many a year,
Had faced me with her brave, true eyes,
Passed on, and said, "Good morning, dear!"

"THE BRIDGE BUILDER"
An old man, going a lone highway,
Came at the evening, cold and gray.
To a chasm, vast and deep and wide,
Through which was flowing a sullen tide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim;
The sullen stream had no fears for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting strength with building here;
Your journey will end with the ending day;
You never again must pass this way;
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide—
Why build you the bridge at the eventide?"
The builder lifted his old gray head:
"Good friend, in the path I have come," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm that has been naught to me
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

SYNOPSIS
Old Mr. Treves, the famed criminologist, had long ago retired from active practice, but his was the subject of murder were still highly respected. In his opinion, the "dark deed" really began long before the actual crime was committed. Here, then, are the cause and events that brought certain people to a certain place on a certain day.
On January 11th, Avenue MacWhorter lay tossing on a hospital cot following a successful attempt at suicide. MacWhorter's wife had left him when he lost his job, and he had hoped to lead a new life when he found himself in the clasp of a tree. The kindly nurse in charge assured him that he would not only have a reason for seeing him.
In February, a lone figure sat noting a carefully detailed record for murder. The writer traced a date in September, then, with a lurch, turned the page in silence. The plan was now only existent in the brain of its creator. To March, however, the writer of Scotland Yard was summoned to his daughter Sylvia's school by Miss Armstrong, the headmistress. Sylvia had confessed she was guilty of the various small thefts which had been puzzling the school authorities.
"Bottle's clever questioning of his son's sister, daughter, moves her innocence. In April, Neville Stunce, handsome young sportsman, and Kay, his pleasure-loving bride of a few months, discovered their proposed visit in June to Gull's Point, home of Neville's elderly grandfather, Lady Camilla Trevelyan. Kay disliked riding on a yachting party scheduled for this time, but decided the "A better place" up to Camilla since Neville was her heir.
CHAPTER FIVE
"IT'S NOT a question of playing up," Neville said angrily. "Camilla has to control over the money. Sir Matthew left it in trust for her during her lifetime and to come to me and my wife afterwards. It's a question of affection. Why can't you understand that?"
Kay said, after a moment's pause:
"I do understand really. I'm just putting on an act, because—well, because I know I'm only allowed there on sufferance, as it were. They hate me! Yes, they do! Lady Trevelyan looks down at long nose of hers at me and Mary Aldin looks over my shoulder when she talks to me. It's all very well for you. You don't see what goes on."
"They always seem to me very polite to you. You know quite well I wouldn't stand for it if they weren't."
Kay gave him a curious look from under her dark lashes.
"They're polite enough. But they know how to get under my skin all right. I'm the interloper, that's what they feel."
"Well," said Neville, "after all, I suppose—that's natural enough, isn't it?"
His voice had changed slightly. He got up and stood looking out at the view with his back to Kay.
"Oh, yes I dare say it's natural. They were devoted to Audrey, weren't they?" Her voice shook a little. "Dear, well-bred, cool, colorless Audrey! Camilla's not forgiven me for taking her place."
Neville did not turn. His voice was lifeless, dull. He said: "After all, Camilla's old—past 70. Her generation doesn't really like divorce, you know. On the whole, I think she's accepted the position very well considering how fond she was of—of Audrey."
His voice changed just a little as he spoke the name.
"They think you treated her badly."
"So I did," said Neville under his breath, but his wife heard.
"Oh, Neville—don't be so stupid. Just because she chose to make such a frightful fuss."
"She didn't make a fuss. Audrey never made a fuss."
"Well you know what I mean. Because she went away and was ill, and went about everywhere looking broken hearted. That's what I call a fuss! Audrey's not what I call a good loser. From my point of view if a wife can't hold her husband she ought to give him up gracefully! You two had nothing in common. She never played a game and was as anemic and washed up as a dishrag. No life or go in her! If she really cared about you, she ought to have thought about your happiness first and been glad you were going to be happy with someone more suited to you."
Neville turned. A faintly sardonic smile played around his lips.
"What a little sportsman! How to play the game in love and matrimony!"
Kay laughed and reddened.
"Well, perhaps I was going a bit far. But at any rate once the thing had happened, there it was. You've got to accept these things!"
Neville said quietly:
"Audrey accepted it. She divorced me so that you and I could marry."
"Yes, I know—" Kay hesitated. Neville said:
"You've never understood Audrey."
"No, I haven't. In a way, Audrey gives me the creeps. I don't know what it is about her. You never know what she's thinking. . . . She's—she's a little frightening."
"Oh! nonsense, Kay."
"Well, she frightens me. Perhaps it's because she's got brains."
"My lovely nitwit!"
Kay laughed.
"You always call me that!"
"Because it's what you are!"
They smiled at each other. Neville came over to her and, bending down, kissed the back of her neck.
"Lovely, lovely Kay," he murmured.
"Very good Kay," said Kay. "Giving up a lovely yachting trip to go and be snubbed by her husband's prim Victorian relations."
Neville went back and sat down by the table.
"You know," he said, "I don't see why we shouldn't go on that trip with Shirley if you really want to so much."
Kay sat up in astonishment.
"And what about Saltcreek and Gull's Point?"
Neville said in a rather unnatural voice:
"I don't see why we shouldn't go there early in September."
"Oh, but, Neville, surely—" She stopped.
"We can't go in July and August because of the tournaments," said Neville. "But we finish up at St. Loo the last week in August and it would fit in very well if we went on to Saltcreek from there."
"Oh, it would fit all right—beautifully. But I thought—well, Shirley always goes there for September, doesn't she?"
"Audrey, you mean?"
"Yes, I suppose they could put her off, but—"
"Why should they put her off?"
Kay stared at him dubiously.
"You mean what'd be there at the same time? What an extraordinary idea!"
Neville said irritably:
"I don't think it's at all an extraordinary idea. Lots of people do it nowadays. Why shouldn't we all be friends together? It makes things so much simpler. Why, you said so yourself only the other day."
"I did?"
"Yes! Don't you remember? We were talking about the Howes, and you said it was the sensible civilized way to look at things, and that Leonard's new wife and his ex were the best of friends."
"Oh, I wouldn't mind. I do think it's sensible. But—well—I don't think Audrey would feel like that about it."
"Nonsense."
"It isn't nonsense. You know, Neville, Audrey really was terribly fond of you. . . . I don't think she'd stand it for a moment."
"You're quite wrong, Kay. Audrey thinks it would be quite a good thing."
"Audrey—what do you mean, Audrey thinks? How do you know what Audrey thinks?"
Neville looked slightly embarrassed. He cleared his throat a little self-consciously.
"As a matter of fact, I happened to run into her yesterday when I was up in London."
"You never told me."

FAYETTE COUNTY REUNIONS HELD ON SAIPAN BASE

Sgt. James Vest Writes About Meeting Boys from Home At Island Post Office

There has been a "Fayette County Reunion on Saipan" even if it was spread over several weeks. Sgt. James Vest writes from the far Pacific island base.

Sgt. Vest is in charge of that all-important function on the other side of the world—the Post Office for servicemen. And in that position has the opportunity to see nearly everyone, sooner or later, because mail from home is the one thing that brings them all to any one given place.

Sgt. Vest's letter to the Record-Herald tells the story of the "Meandering Along the Main Stem of Saipan."

"The above heading seems to be the most appropriate way to start this letter due to all the Washington C. H. traffic I have seen going through here. I am in charge of a Post Office here and have the opportunity to meet a lot of people.

"The first meeting took place about three months ago when I accidentally ran across S-Sgt. Bill Summers who is stationed here, and being about 8,000 miles from the old home town, I considered that quite a surprise, but after a few more weeks I decided the world wasn't so large and that Washington C. H. was a pretty big place after all. The next Washington citizen I had the pleasure of meeting was Lt. Bob Hagerty, who is working here in the medical corps as a dentist.

"The unit I am assigned to is taking care of all the men in this area, (which consists of the Volcanic and Marianas Islands) that are going home for discharge under the point and age plan. All those men stop here for a processing routine before their return to the U.S.

"About two weeks ago I met another old buddy of mine that I hadn't seen in about four years, and that was T-Sgt. Don Hurler who has been stationed at Iwo Jima and is on his way back to be discharged.

"This evening to my great surprise I met another buddy Fayette county just as he was mailing a letter home to his Mrs. This time it was Sgt. Clifford Warner, who has been stationed at Tinian and is also on his way home to be released from the service.

"Cliff and Don are visiting me now and we are having a grand reunion talking about the old home town. I have about come to the conclusion that all I need is a City Manager and a Sheriff and I can have a Washington Court House here on Saipan and who knows, with the way things have been happening, I wouldn't be surprised if I met one of them here."

WEEKLY NEWS MAGAZINE FOR PRESBYTERIANS NOW

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26—(P)—The general council of the Presbyterian Church of the United States has authorized publication of a weekly news magazine under auspices of the church.

At a meeting here yesterday the council also recommended an increase of more than $500,000 in the church's benevolence budget for the next fiscal year.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

both sides of the question chose to comment.

Any rush for action likewise was missing. Acting Chairman Johnson of the senate military committee, a Democrat who is against the Truman idea, said the matter could not be considered until about January 15 when the chairman returns.

The Truman proposition thus did not change votes or arouse supporting sentiment. His basic between-the-lines idea plainly was that Russia has not joined wholeheartedly in the peace, is the only competitive world military power to us, has announced plans for a youth draft of her own—and we should do likewise.

This unspoken part of the presentation was the most impressive. The written argument of the president cannot hold analytical water.

He says, for instance, he wants a small army and navy, a big national guard and a youth draft for reserves. His defense then would rest entirely on how big and good he made the national guard, because he admits the drafted youth would only have basic training—not the specialized training essential for modern war.

He claimed the rockets and atom bombs have robbed us of time to prepare in the future. But he said the army and navy could not use the youthful reserves until time was taken out to get an act of Congress passed. By that time the nation might be destroyed.

He claimed our geographical ocean defense had been destroyed (directed missiles would come winging over the icy frontier of the Arctic to our midwest), but his plan would risk our defenses to "a small" army and navy, and a national guard, which hardly sounds like adequate defense and completely abandons attack possibilities which are often the best defense.

Frankly, it seems to me Mr. Truman was sold an obsolete youth draft system by the old-time crowd in the War Department, and he dressed it up with his national guard enlargement idea, and presented it as an answer for a job it will not do. From his own evidence, we will have to be ready to act faster than his plan would follow action.

Then again he said "universal military training is not conscription," assuming apparently that conscription applies only to direct service in the army and navy.

Conscription means "enlisted by compulsion" for anything, whether civilian service, youth camps or the Democratic party. It is the Russian way, the Communist way, the old Prussian way and the objection that will unquestionably sway Congress against it is that there are many democratic ways of doing the same job better.

What we need for defense is a scientific army for this scientific age. First there should be a single department of the armed forces with a co-equal air force to fight the very things which Mr. Truman envisaged.

Fossilized ideas like youth drafts should be shoved out with the fossils, and a new enlightened spirit generated throughout our defense system. This armed force should not be "small" or "large" but enough.

Behind this armed force, a better system for more reserves could be built in a democratic way. We are a democracy favoring utmost liberty for the individual and should practise what we preach. By the youth draft, the armed forces would only give basic training to a little more than 1,000,000 youngsters a year, taking them from their homes, their lives, the development of their talents and delaying their economic contributions as workers in the nation by a year.

If military training were brought to them in the schools in their home towns, millions of youngsters could get basic training and be kept trained throughout their high school and college years. Indeed they could get specialized training in scientific warfare subjects—at a fraction of the cost of the draft program, because their families would be supporting them instead of the government.

For those who do not go to school, the national guard development is logical. They can get basic and specialized training at night, on weekends, in summer maneuvers without quitting their jobs, lives and families.

But they should be furnished the best officers, with war training, and the latest equipment so they will know how to use it. Their aviation branch should not be a flying club, but a combat service.

These two steps would cover the entire youth of the country with a truly democratic kind of compulsion, by making military service a required subject in the schools and national guard or army service obligatory for those who do not go to school.

For officer personnel, Annapolis and West Point should be duplicated to whatever extent necessary.

There is need for haste as Mr. Truman said. A long time will be required to get these things going efficiently. Many bills to carry out some phases of such a democratic training program are pending in Congress, but there is no democratic program as a whole. This is the gravest fault of the current situation.

If the bullheaded War Department will not work out what Congress wants, and is able to control Mr. Truman, Congress is likely to work out a piecemeal substitute which will not do the job either.

It is a condition screaming for skilled democratic leadership, which unless furnished might well cause this nation to fall before the first new aggressor.

47 BUS DRIVERS
IN COUNTY TO TAKE FIRST AID

Special Class Instructed by
J. W. Yates Will Start
November 1

Fayette County's 47 school bus drivers will know exactly what to do in an emergency after they have completed the first aid and life saving course conducted especially for them by the Red Cross here.

The first class is November 1 at 8 P. M. in the Red Cross Home Nursing Room on the second floor of Memorial Hall. James W. Yates, chairman of first aid for the county, will be the instructor.

Brand new Red Cross First Aid textbooks will be used for the bus drivers, a textbook which includes medical information learned during the war.

A regulation of the State Department of Education requires all bus drivers to have a Red Cross First Aid certificate. Many of them have had a previous course but since certificates expire every two years, most of the drivers will want to renew them, it was said.

Bus drivers in the county school system are: Bloomingburg, Loren G. Foster, O. E. Housman, Kenneth Shirkey, David Whiteside and Harry Butcher; Concord, J. O. Wilson and Earl Morris; Green, Willard Williamson, Eldon Marshall and Ray Cummings; Jefferson Village, Clyde Rings, Marvin Brown, Ralph Jenks, Howard Keith, Edgar Post, Robert Creamer and Demerson Dowler; Madison, George Remy, Hybert Remy, Howard Clark, Frank Schwaigler and C. C. Kneisley; Marion, Harry West and Herbert Shepard; Paint, C. C. Coe and Paul Winn; Perry, Homer Smith; Union, Louis Bogges, Elmo Wilson, Walter Thompson, Clyde Garring, Charles Minshall, Roy Pfeiffer, Glenn Hidy, Erwin Miller, Albert Warner, Donna Zimmerman and Harold Gault; Wayne, Dean Britton, Tom Braden, Sam Day and Robert E. Lower; Jasper, Hugh Morris, John Riley, Frank E. Baughn, Earl Whiteside and Eugene Klontz.

Wife of an overseas soldier, Mrs. Mary Maher, above, has disclosed she is the "mystery woman" involved in the acid-throwing incident with Mrs. Lydia Thompson, who was found slain near Pontiac, Mich. Mrs. Maher told police she met the victim's husband, Louis, only three weeks before the incident. According to Mrs. Maher, the acid-throwing incident followed a party at a cafe when Mrs. Thompson entered the place and charged Mrs. Maher with being "the other woman" in Thompson's life. One of the acid-spilled dresses is shown above. Meanwhile, police continued to search for a man named in a note left by Mrs. Thompson. (International)

POET'S CORNER

Washington C. H. is full of honest people—at least Mrs. Ella Tefft of 930 Millwood Avenue is convinced of it.

Here's the story. She lost her purse not long ago and, after a diligent search, she failed to find it again. When it was returned, Mrs. Tefft wrote this poem about the incident:

A poor lone woman lost her purse
In the lobby at Market and Hinde
Through grief and tears for the missing purse
She tried so hard to find.

In the meantime someone picked it up.
The missing purse they had found
Turned it in at the U. S. Post Office.

Where they knew 'twould be safe and sound.

In the hands of our good post master
The little purse it lay
Till he notified the loser
And she came and carried it away.

Now you wonder who the finder was
So honest and so true
None other than Miss Minnie Graves
Who always knows just what to do

(And Does It).

COUNTRY CLUB
SUBDIVISION IS SELECTED HERE

New Residential District Is To Be Restricted, Three
Purchasers Say

A new residential district, to be called the Country Club subdivision, has been purchased by Norman McLean, attorney, here, Dr. W. H. Limes and Dr. Clarence G. Hayes.

The subdivision, which includes the 11 1-4 acres on the Greenfield Pike which are bound by Elm and High Streets, eventually will include probably 20 or 25 lots, McLean said Friday. He explained the construction would be restricted and, while the ground at present is outside the corporation limits, the three men hope it will be admitted to the city sometime.

Right now, nothing has been done except to purchase the land. Building streets, marking off building lots and landscaping will come later. McLean said the plan is to "have a really nice place to live." He added he, Dr. Limes and Dr. Hayes had not yet selected the sites where they will build their homes.

The development of the subdivision necessarily will be slow, McLean said. He indicated no construction would begin until next summer or possibly later. Other details will be announced later, he added.

The development of the subdivision will begin as soon as possible. The construction of the roads will be the first thing on the program, it was explained Friday. Building of houses necessarily will have to wait a little while longer, however. Other details will be announced later.

FROWNED ON BY GRANGE

BAY CITY, Mich., Oct. 26—(AP)

—Louis J. Taber, national Grange past master, today told delegates to the 72nd Michigan State Grange convention that peacetime conscription would lead to "suspicion and hatred among nations."

Taber, who is from Columbus, Ohio, and now holds the position of president of the American Council of Churches, said if this country is to lead the world to peace it must avoid "aggressive tactics."

Japan is normally the world's leading fish-catcher and consumer.

Ohio Football Program Thinnest in Many Weeks

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Ohio State's football team, which steamed into Minneapolis today and a do-or-die battle with the Minnesota Gophers.

The thinnest college grid program in Ohio in weeks made it sure Ohioans that the thousands would have their ears tuned to the radio tomorrow to hear whether the Bucks can do a comeback from their stunning defeat by Purdue a week ago. If they lose their Western Conference championship hopes are gone.

When the Bucks left Columbus yesterday Coach Carroll Widdoes said he doubted that Dick Fisher and Paul Sarringhaus would be able to start the game against the Gophers and his worries were increased by injuries to Jack Linder and Steve O'Dea, the No. 1 and No. 2 centers.

The Ohio State football team was one of only nine on the week-end of those were to be played within the Buckeye borders.

Miami vs. Miami. Friday night's program was topped by Miami against Miami in what already is being called the "confusion bowl game." It was Miami of Oxford, O., against Miami of Miami, Fla., at Miami. The Ohio Miami was seeking its sixth straight triumph of the season. The Friday night schedule also called for a tilt between Wooster and Baldwin-Wallace, one of the better eleven in the Ohio conference.

The big show within Ohio tomorrow will be Kentucky's clash with Cincinnati at Cincinnati. The Kentuckians squeezed out a victory over the Boarscats earlier in the season and rated as slight favorites to do it again.

There were three Ohio conference games on the Saturday program. One matched unbeaten, untied and uncored upon Capital against Heidelberg. Another pitted

Ohio Sports Chatter

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Woe unto the guy who tries to write Ohio High School football.

Bob Worth, Newark Advocate—Harold Harrison, the gentleman from Indiana who now is the sports editor of the Ohio Division of The Associated Press, and who seemed to think Newark should have romped over Male High School of Louisville, Ky., Friday night at Louisville instead of "squeezing" out a 20 to 13 victory, probably will be surprised to learn that Massillon has requested a game with Newark on the strength of the Wildcats' victory over Male.

"However, the Cats and the Tigers won't collide for Newark's 1946 schedule already has been filed. Massillon also wanted to play the game at Massillon and also desired only a one-year contract."

Memo to Mr. Worth and Newark Fans—You'd be surprised to learn how this corner rated Newark in an unofficial football gabfest last night. It was somewhere above second.

Oddities and Eddities

The Ohio State-Southern California football rivalry is slated to be resumed next fall. The Dope has it the Bucks will be in Los Angeles on October 5. . . Miami University wanted to fly to Miami, Fla., for its football game with the University of Miami (Fla.) tonight but couldn't make the necessary arrangements.

Oberlin gave varsity letters and football game to 25 members of its undefeated football team. All 29 were members of the V-12 unit—five sailors and 24 marines—which explains rather adequately why the yeomen wanted to get their football playing done before the V-12 deadline of November 1. . . In eight games the Yeomen gained 1,735 net yards by rushing to 756 for their opponents and 552 yards by passing to 393 for their foes.

Officials' Association Is Formed in Ohio

PAINESVILLE, O., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Athletic officials of Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga Counties have organized the Northeast Ohio Officials' Association. C. E. Hirshey of Conneaut was elected president at the group's first meeting yesterday. George Lockman of Painesville was named vice president and Henry Bullard of Painesville, secretary-treasurer.

The original process of making steel rails was invented by Henry Bessemer of England, and perfected by A. L. Holley, an American.

Competition in Bowling Still Keen

Keen competition and a close race continue to highlight bowling in the Industrial League with the three top flight teams all finishing Thursday night's matches on the Main Street alleys with two-out-of-three decisions.

Significant of the red hot battles was the failure of any team to make a clean sweep.

Those toughies from Mt. Sterling won the first two games of the league with the Slagle & Kirk outfit boys, but the outfit that trailed nearly all last season and went on to finish in true sporting traditions came back to win the last one by six pins.

The Brandenburgers won their first game from Pennington's flakers by 99 pins when they were at their best, then they dropped the last two by fairly close margins.

The API crew opened up with its heavy artillery to knock out the Producers in the first game, but from there on they could not hold the range and lost the last two games.

Jeffersonville's Ringers rolled like a bunch of dubs in their opener which they lost to Don Scholl's AC, but they got the head duck located after that and won the last two by piling up totals over the 900-mark in each of them.

DR. LEY HANGS SELF AS HE AWAITS TRIAL AS NAZI SLAVE BOSS days away, Ley's death was of certain documents with high value as evidence, pertaining only to the use of certain documents with high value as evidence, pertaining only to the ex-labor boss.

The official announcement said the body was discovered by a sentinel who became suspicious when Ley remained seated motionless in his cell for more than two minutes.

"The Sentinel called the prisoner by name and received no answer," the announcement said. "They (the guard and the corporal of the guard) entered the cell and discovered Ley was on the toilet seat. His mouth was stuffed with rags torn from his underwear. Around his neck was the hemmed edge of a towel, fastened to the top of the flush pipe of the toilet. The guard called the prisoner officer, who cut the prisoner down."

Ley had wet the towel to make sure the knot would not slip, and had drawn the noose tight when he seated himself. The guard, who looked into the cell every 30 seconds, could see only the prisoner's knees. Apparently Ley had planned his suicide long and carefully.

The 22 other top-ranking Nazi defendants were not informed of Ley's death. His body was removed to the prison morgue.

He was buried today in an unmarked grave.

A fanatical Nazi Ley controlled 95 per cent of all the gainfully employed persons in the Reich. In his capacity as labor chief Ley obliterated labor unions ruthlessly. He created the "strength through joy" movement, and often lectured women on the advisability of bearing illegitimate children. He also battled the Catholic church.

JAPS INCLINED TO BALK AT TWO ALLIED ORDERS; OCCUPATION DISCUSSED

probing into hidden resources within the conquered nation reported confiscation of $2,500,000 worth of radium from vaults of the German consulate at Osaka.

The estimated value of all gold, silver and other valuables seized by occupation forces rose far above a quarter billion dollars with the taking over of about $3,000,000 worth of silver bullion, mercury, tool steel, storage batteries and zinc by the 97th Infantry Division troops in a warehouse raid near Iida on central Honshu.

Eighth Army headquarters said the warehouse was owned by the Matsuo Agriculture Association but that the silver bullion was reported to be the property of The Mitsubishi Industrial Trust.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye's reported plan to resign his baronial title appeared today to be the opening move of one of the country's most influential men to retain political power under "the new deal."

Well informed Japanese sources verified Domei Agency's report of yesterday that the brooding Konoye was preparing to retire from the Imperial Court, to yield all of his titles and prerogatives, and to start a new political career as a commoner. However, attempts to obtain direct confirmation were fruitless. Konoye and his associates could not be reached. Officials in the office of Marquis Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal, to whom Konoye was reported to have confided his plan, declined to talk.

HUMANIZE THE ARMY, BENDER IS URGING

Demobilization Should Think Of Individuals, He Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Humanization of the army's demobilization program was urged today by Rep. Bender (R-Ohio).

Servicemen, he said, "aren't army serial numbers to be regarded as so many infantrymen, signal corpsmen, coast guardsmen, or marines. They are individuals to be treated so."

Calling on the government to consider the human side of demobilization, Bender added in an interview the process would be hastened if congressmen said in the house what they say privately.

"Unexpressed in official circles," the Ohioan said, "is the uncomfortable belief that the administration is afraid of hastening demobilization because it hopes to have jobs ready for veterans before vast majority of them return home."

troops in a warehouse raid near Iida on central Honshu.

Eighth Army headquarters said the warehouse was owned by the Matsuo Agriculture Association but that the silver bullion was reported to be the property of The Mitsubishi Industrial Trust.

Prince Fumimaro Konoye's reported plan to resign his baronial title appeared today to be the opening move of one of the country's most influential men to retain political power under "the new deal."

Well informed Japanese sources verified Domei Agency's report of yesterday that the brooding Konoye was preparing to retire from the Imperial Court, to yield all of his titles and prerogatives, and to start a new political career as a commoner. However, attempts to obtain direct confirmation were fruitless. Konoye and his associates could not be reached. Officials in the office of Marquis Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal, to whom Konoye was reported to have confided his plan, declined to talk.

TRUMAN WANTS MARSHALL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President Truman wants General George C. Marshall to remain as army chief of staff. The 64-year-old general is beyond retirement age and wants to step down.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Oats futures continued strong most of the time today on reports of good shipping demand, with around 240,000 bushels reported sold for shipment overnight.

Mounting opposition to the Pace bill to increase parity prices made it difficult to maintain advances in other grains, however, although the nearby rye delivery climbed more than a cent at times.

All grains rallied near the close and wheat was $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher than the previous finish, Dec. $\$1.76\frac{1}{2}$. Corn was up $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, Dec. $\$1.16\frac{1}{2}$. Oats were $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ ahead, Dec. $\$1.17\frac{1}{2}$. Rye was up $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, Dec. $\$1.61\frac{1}{2}$. Barley was unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ higher, Dec. $\$1.17\frac{1}{2}$.

GRAIN CLOSE
CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—
Oats—Dec. $$1.76\frac{1}{2}$; May $$1.74\frac{1}{2}$; July $$1.72\frac{1}{2}$; Sept. $$1.66\frac{1}{2}$.
Corn—Dec. $$1.16\frac{1}{2}$; May $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$; July $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$; Sept. $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$.
Oats—Dec. $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$; May $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$; July $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$; Sept. $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$.
Rye—Dec. $$1.61\frac{1}{2}$; May $$1.53\frac{1}{2}$; July $$1.51\frac{1}{2}$; Sept. $$1.36\frac{1}{2}$.
Barley—Dec. $$1.17\frac{1}{2}$; May $$1.16\frac{1}{2}$; July $$1.14\frac{1}{2}$.

CASH GRAIN
CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—No wheat sales.
Oats—No. 1 mixed extra heavy 60 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢; sample grade mixed extra heavy 70 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢; No. 2 white extra heavy 70 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢; malted $\$1.21$.
Field Seed per hundredweight, nominal: Timothy $$2.50$; red top $$1.10$; red clover $$3.50$; sweet clover $$10.75$; alfalfa $$33.50$.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—(USDA)—Soybeans 2200, active, steady; good and choice 140 lb. $$14.50$; soys and slugs $$14.20$.

Cattle 700, calves 300; week's cleanup slaughter cattle trade very drab; demand spotted all classes; strictly good cows scarce; limited sales steady to weak, bids 25¢ or more off, cows and calves 100 to 150 lb. $$14.50$; baby beefs $$15.50$; bulk steers and heifers $$12.25$; vealers $$14$ down to $$10$ or below; feeder buyer support for steers, odd beef cows $$12$ to $$13$; top bulls $$12.25$; vealers active, steady, good and choice $$16$ to $$17.50$.

Sheep 800, generally steady; deck pooled lambs averaging over 90 lbs. $$16$; few choice 100 lb. trucked-in lambs $$15$; ewes $$3.50$ to $$5$; few $$7$.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(AP)—(USDA)—Salable hogs 4000, total 10,000; active and fully steady; good and choice barrows and gilts at 140 lb. up at the ceiling price; good and choice soys at $$14.10$; complete clearance.

Salable cattle 2000, total 3500; salable calves 500, total 900; all classes steady; hardly enough fat steers here to make a market, especially medium to good grades selling at $$11.50$ to $$12.50$; 3 loads lightweights and weighty choice steers, this class fully steady with beef cows at $$25$ to $$28$; odd head $$13.25$ and $$13.50$ and canners and cutters $$12.50$ to $$13$; bulls very scarce, steady and no change in vealers at $$13.50$ down; week's supply medium to choice stock steers and yearlings well cleaned up at $$12$ to $$13$.

Salable sheep 2000, total 3000; generally steady although cut, common

APPEALS COURT AFFIRMS LOWER IN JONES CASE

Judgment Against Former Sheriff Sustained in Decision

The Fayette County Court of Appeals, in a decision received here Friday, upholds the Common Pleas Court here in finding for the plaintiff in the case of Edwin F. Jones against William H. Icenhower, former sheriff of Fayette County.

The case was carried up by Icenhower following the finding made against him by Judge H. M. Rankin in the Common Pleas Court several months ago.

The decision was based on a judgment of the trial court on an accounting between the parties involved. The lower court found in favor of Jones as to a certain diamond ring in possession of Icenhower, and as to a certain diamond stick pin sold by him for $450. Both were pledged in the name of Perrill Jones. The court found that Icenhower is indebted to Jones in the sum of $183.

The court found the diamond tie pin which was pledged in the name of Henry Jones, former sheriff and county commissioner, to be the property of Jones.

The lower court ordered that the defendant deliver to the plaintiff the diamond ring in the defendant's possession and that the plaintiff recover from the defendant the sum of $183 and costs for which judgment was entered with costs.

Jones claimed that the defendant held three diamonds, two of which were set in tie pins and one set in a ring, as a pledge to secure $563.24, which it was claimed the defendant, Icenhower, had advanced to the plaintiff on the security of said diamonds.

Tender of the amount advanced together with interest was admitted and the defendant denied the other claims of the petition. Icenhower claimed the diamonds had been transferred to him for the amount necessary to redeem the articles from a pawn shop.

The Court of Appeals states in part:

"We consider this case as upon questions of law only, and therefore cannot reach the error suggested by the appellee because there is no cross-appeal.

"The evidence was in dispute but the trial judge having the right to weigh it and determine the credibility of the witnesses and probability of statements entered judgment accordingly.

"We cannot find that his judgment is so manifestly against the weight of the evidence as to require its reversal. There is no dispute as to the question of law involved and controlling on the issues joined. The judgment will be affirmed."

The three judges were in agreement on the decision.

Jones was represented by W. S. Paxson and E. L. Bush represented Icenhower.

POSTWAR CHEVROLET TO BE HERE NOV. 3

Brandenburg Co. Considers Plans for Display

The new postwar Chevrolet is to make its Washington C. H. debut in the showroom of the Brandenburg Motor Sales Co. on West Court Street on Nov. 3, Brandenburg said Friday after receiving word that the national showing has been definitely scheduled for that date.

Brandenburg declared that he had not yet had time to give much thought to plans for the return of new passenger cars after the war, but intimated that some sort of special welcome probably would be arranged.

He said he had seen some of the new models of the Chevrolet and he radiated enthusiasm for them as he talked. He did not, however, go into detailed descriptions of either their body designs or mechanical improvements. He said "you'll just have to see it for yourself to appreciate it."

He expressed the hope that the new Buicks, for which he also has the agency here, would be released for display at the same time, but added he had been given no assurance that this hope would be realized.

A solid bank of earth, rock or other material built above the natural ground surface to form the roadbed of the railroad is called an embankment or fill.

DEATH RESULTS FROM INJURIES IN CORN PICKER

Clifford G. Groves Dies in Hospital Following Recent Accident

Clifford G. Groves, 51, residing on the Ross Glaze farm, died in Grant Hospital, Thursday night at 11:30, from injuries sustained a week ago when his clothing was caught in the power take-off of a corn picker and torn from his body.

At the time of the accident it was thought his injuries were not serious, but later examination disclosed that he not only had sustained a broken neck and fractured vertebrae, but the spinal cord had been injured, resulting in complete paralysis of his lower extremities.

He was removed to Grant Hospital Monday and an operation performed, but he failed to rally from the injuries.

Mr. Groves had resided in Madison County until eight years ago.

He was a member of the Christian Union Church in Jeffersonville, where funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 P. M., and burial made in the Fairview Cemetery under direction of the Alvin G. Little Funeral Home.

Mr. Groves is survived by his widow, Mrs. Inis Groves; four sons and two daughters—Harry, John, Joseph, David, Kay and Rebecca, all at home; a brother, O. H. Groves, London, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Hines, of Bloomingburg.

Friends may call at the residence after 7 P. M. Friday.

back. Its inquiry concerns the alleged sale of Navy supplies on the Hawaiian black market.

Big Jim Mead of New York, now the committee's chairman, said about $500,000 of such supplies were sold illegally in the Pearl Harbor area. Republican Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan put the figure twice that high. They called up witnesses, too, for questioning about reports of Navy men gambling at Pearl Harbor.

The Senate had only a routine session scheduled and the House is in adjournment until next week.

Russian Relations
Relations between the United States and Russia seemed on the mend today in an atmosphere of better understanding.

These were the heartening developments:

1. State Department disclosure that the two governments were discussing the Soviet proposal for a four-power council (U. S., Russia, Britain, China), to govern Japan.

2. Indications Russia would agree that when differences arose in the council, the U. S. position would govern.

3. Timely delivery of Russia's United Nations ratification documents, which permitted the world security organization to become a fact Wednesday.

Washington officials hoped the week end might bring at least one more air-clearing event: an announcement that Russia had de-

RURAL SECTION TO BE STRESSED IN BOND DRIVE

Workers for $625,000 Fund To Get Material at Meeting

The men and women who will work in the Eighth Victory Loan drive will receive their material at a meeting Monday night, the day the $625,000 campaign is to begin. Otis B. Core, chairman of the War Finance Committee, said today.

Judge Otis B. Core

At a meeting of the executive committee in his law office Thursday night the groundwork of the campaign was mapped out. A concentrated campaign in the townships with extra workers is to be the feature of the campaign, Core said.

Contacting every house in the county will make an exceptionally large list of workers necessary, he explained. A group of rural leaders were to meet Friday noon in W. J. Hilty's office in the Court House to discuss the aspects of the last bond drive in the county.

In the city wards, there will be fewer workers than in the past, probably four or five per ward, Core said. Details of the city campaign will be worked out later he said.

The time and place of the Monday meeting has not yet been announced.

cided to participate in the Allied Far Eastern Advisory Commission, which will meet here for the first time Tuesday.

Announcement yesterday of the continuing four-power council discussions climaxed a day in which government officials and newsmen debated this question:

When Foreign Commissar Molotov first proposed the council for Japan, did he mean one like that set up to govern Germany, or one like those established to administer former German satellite nations such as Hungary and Romania?

It made a lot of difference.

On the Berlin council, four Allies have equal authority.

On the Balkan commissions, the U. S. and Britain have equal representation with Russia, but in the event of conflicting views the Soviet position governs.

The U. S. would not agree to a Berlin-type council for Japan.

On his return from the London meeting of foreign ministers three weeks ago, Secretary of State Byrnes said he believed Molotov wanted a Berlin-type council. He reiterated this at his Wednesday news conference.

Russian newspapers disagreed. They said all Molotov wanted was a Balkan type commission.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION IS NOW COMPLETE

Walter Rettig, George Pensyl And Mrs. Gilbert Adams Are Selected

Walter F. Rettig, George Pensyl and Mrs. Gilbert Adams have been named by City Manager Walter Stambaugh as the three citizen members of the new planning commission for Washington C. H. Stambaugh and Judge R. H. Sites, by reason of their offices, are automatically the other two members of the five-member commission.

Before making the appointments, Stambaugh gave careful consideration to many possible members of the board, and had approval of members of council.

The commission will meet soon to organize and to take the first steps toward plans for a bigger and better city.

Rettig, who was named for a six-year term, was former principal of the Washington C. H. High School for a number of years, and resigned that position to become secretary-treasurer of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Rettig has always taken deep interest in civic betterment and is very much interested in the future of the city and community.

Pensyl, always active in movements for the betterment of the city and community, for years has been affiliated with the Gosard Jewelry Store, and is well qualified for the work to be carried on by the planning commission. He was named for four years.

Mrs. Gilbert Adams, named for two years and only woman member of the board, also has taken deep interest in municipal affairs and movements for civic betterment. She brings to the commission deep enthusiasm for a more orderly program for city building and planning generally.

City Manager Stambaugh said that the commission will not only work with council, but with the Chamber of Commerce and the County Planning Commission.

Under the law the planning commission has wide powers, and the chief duties are to work out and establish proper zoning of the city and a building code that will insure a more orderly and beautiful city.

Need of such a commission has been growing as the years have gone by, and the city has built and expanded without proper regulations such as will be provided by the planning commission.

FRANK GRUBBS NOW DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN

Frank Grubbs, who was vice-chairman of the Fayette County Democratic Executive Committee, automatically succeeds Tolen E. Brown, who passed away this week, and who was chairman of the committee.

Grubbs has been a member of the committee for many years, and was chairman for a number of years.

In 1626 New York had inhabitants.

Babe Is Born in Truck On Way to City-Mother Picked Up On Highway

A baby son was born to Mrs. Ange Hatchett, 38, of Lexington, Ky., while she was being brought to Washington C. H. in a truck after she had been picked up at the side of the CCC highway, just south of Mt. Sterling. The babe, born prematurely, was dead when the truck reached this city.

Mrs. Hatchett was taken to the Carr Rest Home and rallied rapidly. The baby was buried in the Washington C. H. cemetery, under direction of the Cox and Parrett funeral home.

Mrs. Hatchett, who was accompanied by her 17-year-old daughter, Myrtle, had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Moore, in Columbus, was en route to her home in Lexington. She is the wife of Bert Hatchett of Lexington.

The two had ridden in a truck until they reached Mt. Sterling, and the condition of Mrs. Hatchett became such that she was forced to get out.

A colored truck driver headed toward this city, whose name was not learned, found the woman lying at the roadside just south of Mt. Sterling, and with the aid of her daughter and passersby,
